The fact that the alcoholism program in this Agency has languished over the years is because of OMS. I take little comfort in the fact that the ball is now in their court. I think something new is needed and I think you have to stay very much involved and not let it get caught up in the nonsense of whether it is an orthodox psychiatric program or a pragmatic one.

Frankly, it is appalling this Agency, given the nature of its work, has such a pathetic track record when it comes to this. I would like to see some concrete steps taken soonest.

Executive Director

NOTE FOR: DDCI

- As discussed, attached is extract on Agency alcoholism program from IG inspection report on OMS. Somewhat dated (1980) but much still applies.
- Alcohol program is currently being reviewed by DDA; in fact, OMS is briefing DDA tomorrow.
- Recommendations for improving the program are being prepared within OMS.
- Current OMS management does appear to be taking a positive approach versus earlier management which had conceptual problems with it. However, whether they know how to lead the program and the OMS staff onto more innovative ground is to be seen.
- They had hoped by now to have something explicit to show for their work but really don't yet. Certainly management education, for referral by supervisors of suspect cases, needs more attention.
